pixel worx

Every project begins with imagination.

At pixel worx, we can assist you in telling your story.

A simple plan can be transformed into a prototype of your project. Not only will this allow your clients to virtually move through the spaces they will one day occupy, it is a cost efficient way to develop your project and cross-check your designs, long before the construction phase commences.

Our people are from a broad cross-section of the building industry, have real architectural experience and understand all processes involved in completing a project, from concept through to construction.

For over 20 years, we have worked alongside architects, engineers, real estate agents, developers, town planners and urban designers.

We specialise in photo-realistic architectural images, fly/walk-through animations and coloured presentation plans.
